

Pastor Shawn Ellis is the Director of Communication and Media at the Ontario Conference of Seventh-day Adventist Church. Before entering ministry, Pastor Ellis was head of a consulting firm specializing in Environmental Toxicology.

His life took a divine turn when God called him to give up the corporate world and serve Him in ministry. Pastor Ellis did not hesitate, leaving behind the world of science to take up the "science of soul-winning." God has used his experience to bring a unique perspective to the Gospel work and sharing with the world that salvation can be found in no one else but Jesus.

A dynamic preacher, Pastor Ellis has shared the Gospel internationally, impacting people in Canada, Europe, the United States, and the Caribbean. He merges technology and theology to produce multimedia sermons and a delightful children's program, "Connect to Christ," which teaches Biblical Principles in a fun way that impacts both young and old.

Pastor Ellis also co-authors with his wife Lian the monthly youth advice column "No Cap" in the Canadian Adventist Messenger magazine and featured on Hope Channel Canada. Pastor Ellis is currently pursuing a Doctorate of Mass Media at Andrews University.

Pastor Shawn Ellis' journey reminds us how God can use anyone life and background and transform them to create impactful ministry for His glory.
